From Steidl : Bettina Rheims: Bonkers before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Bettina Rheims: Bonkers:

In Bonkers! A Fortnight in London, Bettina Rheims continues to explore the cities that inspire her. After Paris featured in many of her books and Shanghai, Rheims now indulges in the wild eccentricities of London, surrounding herself with models, actresses and other beauties on the goin between catwalks, concerts and parties. Together the women play with the toys and tools of their trade: fashion accessories and costumes thrown into the mix by none other than Vivienne Westwood, lewd disguises and blatant nudity. Bonkers! is a dim, surreal world of female self-expression and eroticism.
