Track the TruthBy JojosparrowNo matter how you voted, every American citizen (especially political junkies) should have a set of President Obama's 500 Promises, to stay informed and involved.The non-partisan information was compiled from Obama's speeches, interviews, debate transcripts and his website. The numbered cards can used with PolitiFact.com where the status of the Promises is updated daily.Obama has said" I want you to hold me accountable"This unique set allows us to do just that.This set would also make a dynamic teaching tool- as a starting point for lively debates and discussions.

A unique set containing 510-cards, each presenting one of President Obama's campaign promises.A dynamic tool for staying informed and involved with history in the making. Ideal for debates and discussions at home, work, or school.
