I also love the concept the cards came in. I haven't had the opportunity to play it yet but I think this will be a great party game. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Colorful and entertaining for TV lovers. By C. Pabon It is a fun game, with recent TV shows. Not much in terms of any rules. We decided to make our own and do it between couples. Pick 8 cards, and have up to 5 minutes to try and guess as many cards right as you could. Then the person on the other team who is choosing has 2 minutes to 'steal' any cards that were not guessed by the other couple. A full round is when each member of the couple has had a chance to 'guess'. Then you add up the points. I can see how after a few miles of usage that the owner might start to recognize all the cards. An expansion pack within a year might be a good idea to keep things fresh. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. It's a fun concept, but they have very difficult television shows. By Customer It's a fun concept, but they have very difficult television shows. If you don't watch HBO, Starz, or any of the special channels then you will never be able to guess 99% of the shows. Most of the answers come from these stations.

Can you identify your favorite TV show from just three visual clues? Put all those hours spent watching box sets to good use puzzling out the answer from Casja Holgersson's intriguing illustrations. Featuring 60 shows from Game of Thrones to The West Wing, The Killing to Twin Peaks this after-dinner game is an ideal gift for TV aficionados everywhere.
